Worden accordingly did so, and was bound over to the grand jury on the charge of burglarizing the store of F. W. Spetman & Bro., and his bond was fixed at $500. No action will be taken against him at present with reference to the other cases. George Minor, alias C. A. Martin, was also before the court on the charge of burglarizing two houses in the northwestern part of the city. His defense was that he was drunk and cold when the thing happened, while the officers who were present when he was brought in by the patrol wagon testified that he showed no symptoms of drunkenness. It was also shown that he had been sober enough to use a knife to good advantage, nearly every window in Harrington's house bearing the marks of its edge. GROWTH OF AN EXCELLENT INSTITUTION

Over Three Hundred Pupils Daily Receive Advanced Instruction from a Staff of Learned Tutors-Peatures of the New Course.

It is a long, hard climb up High school hill, especially when the path is covered with ice as smooth as glass and a howling northwest wind threatens to carry the cilmber off to tropical climes in its embrace. And yet the weather seems to have no bad effect on the spirits and energies of the 300 pupils that daily receive instruction within the wails of the old brick building that commands a view of so many miles in almost every direction. The High school is in a better condition today than it has ever been before, thanks to the hard and persistent labors of the superintendent, principal, and the corps of teachers. The wonderful increase in the attendance, almost double what it was two years ago, is a good indicaion of the increase in interest on the part of the pupils. It has been found necessary to use the whole building for the High school department alone, and the smaller rooms that were at one time used by the classes of the grammar grades are now used as recitation rooms, laboratories and the The corps of teachers, together with the departments in which they are to be found, is as follows: E. H. Eastman, principal, science; George W. Price, mathematics and afficuomy; Miss Frieda Habermans, German and history; Mrs. Morna Moore, English composition and literature; Miss Jame Baldwin, Latin; Miss Augusta Bowker, business course and stenography; Miss Mary Wright, olocation and physical culture; Miss Hannah W. Haines, assistant in mathematics and lengthsh

Features of the Course.

Among the features of the work that deespecial mention is the business. This course has been organized only a little over a year, and yet it is one of the most important factors in the growth of the attendance. There was a great deal of trouble formerly caused by the dropping out of pupils after they had come to within three or four years of the clese of their course, it apparently being their idea that all time spent in school after they were 14 years of age was so much time wasted. To prevent this the business course of two years was started. Typewriting, stenography and bookkeeping are the branches taught, and under Miss Bowker's instruction the pupils are given as firm a foundation in the business line as the other pupils receive in the literary branches taught in the four year classical and Eng-lish courses. A great many who could other wise drop out of school are thus induced to stay and graduate, and a number who had airendy stopped have returned.

Prof. Eastman's department is provided with well-equipped inboratories, although he hopes to make a large increase in the amount of apparatus from time to time, as often as the purse strings of the school board relax. The laboratories are now fitted out with an electric dynamo, air pump, hydraulic pump and other valuable instru-ments, and the text book is made an entirely secondary matter in studying the scientifi train hes. All the instruction is carried on by means of actual experiments, performed by the pupils themselves, and by this aystem a practical knowledge of the subjects taught is imported which could never be gained by studying the book

Delsarte and Didactics.

The department of physical culture is meeting with a great deal of success. The pupils are put through systematic exercises every day, according to the principles of Delsarte, and the training cannot but be of great benefit.

great benefit.
Superintendent Sawyer has a class in didacties twice a week in the upper classes, and the graduates, many of whom hope to get positions in the city schools, are thus enabled to start out with a valuable knowledge of the theory and practice of teaching.

The whole force of teachers is working smoothly and earnestly, and each one seems to be doing everything possible to advance the interests of the schools and raise the standard of education in Council Bluffs. Citizens are always made welcome at the recitations of any class, and Prof. Eastman stands ready to file a bond in any amount de-sired that he will not call more any visitar sired that he will not call upon any visitor for a speech unless he thinks best.

FORFEIT OF THE MOTOR CHARTER.

"Observer" Reviews the History of the Deal With the Company.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Feb. 14.-To the Editor of The Bee: Certain of the councilmen say that the reason why no forfeiture under section 7 of the ordinance of 1886 has been declared is that the motor company has given the city and the citizens all that was expected or contracted for and that the forfeiture, if it is allowable at all, must be upon merely technical grounds. We must assume that these gentlemen are making this statement in good faith and really believe what they declare. But in making believe what they declare. But in making these statements they are in great error. Section 7 of the ordinance declares that failure of said company to complete the laying down and equipment of the street railway track and construction of said bridge within the time provided in the ordinance shall operate as a full forfeiture of all right of the company to receive or have need over of the company to receive or have paid over to it any part of the tax voted.

The people of Council Bluffs and the city council ht that time surely meant what they said. The motor company on oath declares to the city's face that it never did build that railway track that it never did build that railway track; that it has never done any of the things that ordinance exacted from it; that it never intended to do any of those things and that all the pretenses made through these years upon which city and citizens have acted to their hurt were made to deceive and for no other purpose in the Benefits of Public Concessions.

Let us see how we were all deceived. It was the motor company that induced the city to expend many thousands of dollars in grading and paving Broadway to the bridge. That investment by Council Buffs brought thousands of dollars to the till of the moter thousands of dollars to the till of the moter-company: for, after that paving was done all traffic with Omaha was done over this bridge, though it went to the Omaha depots, to which the Union Pacific bridge was much more convenient. It was the motor com-pany that induced the city council to allow change of route from Broadway to Avenue A, and it was the motor company's known solvency that induced the city to lie quiet while $4,000 worth of its earth was approprinted for the motor bed. The motor com-pany never disabused official or citizen of that idea until, as it supposed, and probably is the case, the statute of limitations had fully run against the street railway company, which, on oath, is now said to have been that trespasser. When $4,000 is taken from the public treasury through means like that, have the public and the city received the consideration contemplated by the ordi-

In reliance on that ordinance and the pro-fessions of the motor company under it, the city allowed its streets to be torn up while the tracks were being laid. Payment was refused. After the statute of limitations has run against the street railway company—even if solvent, we are told that the motor company built no track and consequently tore up no streets. Nearly $8,500 besides interest the city is out in these two items alone. Is that what the people barrained for in soline the gained for in voting the tax! Who Built the Line?

But the motor company was often before the city council requesting this or that favor in the matter of the construction of its rail-way. All the materials that built bridge way. All the materials that built bridge and track came as the materials of the motor company. The tax was receipted for by the officers of the motor company. Those officials induced the city council to certify that the motor company had built its road and bridge as required by the statute and the ordinance. Without such certificate they could not have secured the tax from the county treasurer, for the law exacts that it should be paid

THE DAILY BEE NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS only when so certified. The company in writing accepted the ordinance of 1889; it secured the release from residents of Madison, Pierce and upper Broadway of claims for damages and for paving in consideration of its building and operating a street railway there. These tastruments were then recorded. Is it wonderful that the city officials should suppose the road to be built by the people who were securing concessions by the people who were securing concession and who were apparently doing the work! They did so think and assessed the paying tax to the motor company. This amounts to many thousands of dollars; $15,000 of that paving tax is now delinquent. The motor company did not build the road; it need not pay. The street build the road; it need not pay. The street railway is not assessed; it therefore cannot be compelled to pay. But the bonds of the city are out; we are paying the banks' inter-est on them today and a heavier assessment must be made upon the property of every taxpayer in the city to meet that deficit. Is this what the people and the city con-templated in voting the tax?

Is Ignorance Excusable?

The mayor and the council say they are not acquainted with the facts: that these occurrences all took place before they were elected. Why are they ignorant of what all other people know! Why, if they do not know, do they not inquire and learn! If they are so dull and do not know what to do, why are their resignations not handed in that the cople may fill their places with men better Spirits in Court. The Biggs will ease was still on in the district court yesterday, and bids fair to hold the attention of the jury again today. Mrs. Biggs No. 2 was very anxious to have the spirit of Mrs. Biggs No. 1 brought into court and sworn with a view to ascertaining just how much of a share it had had in determining whom Mr. Buggs should favor in his will, but as such a thing seemed to be out of the question she had to content herself with swearing a number of people who had been present at interviews between the spirit and Mr. Biggs before his death.

Kernel Club Looking Forward to Another

Bench Show. The Omaha Kennel club held its annual meeting last night. The treasurer's report showed a deficiency of $50 which had been caused by citizens failing to pay prizes they had guaranteed at the recent bench show. The money was raised and all outstanding bills against the club will be paid at once.

Considerable time was taken up in the discussion of the bill now before the legislature, which provides that dogs shall be considered and classed as property. Represenbill endorsed by the house committee, and the governor has indicated that he will sign it if passed.

For the success of future bench shows in Omaha it is necessary that the bill become a law, otherwise the owners of valuable dogs will not send their animals here again and run the chances of having them taken away or stolen, leaving them no recourse by law to either recover the dog or its value. Should the bill pass many re eastern owners of kennels will enter

C., Feb. 14.-When General Carr was made a brigadier general it is asserted that it was with the understanding that he should retire voluntarily before the 4th of next March. The general denies this assertion and is making strenuous resistance to the efforts being made to place him on the retired list. The president has directed him to submit his case in writing to the secretary of war, and at the president's desire General Carr has filed a protest with Secretary Elkins denying that he entered into any understanding with reference to retirement and asking that he be allowed to remain on the active list until the date of his legal re-

Enjoyable Dancing Party.

Union Pacific council, No. 1069, of the Royal Arcanum gave a pleasant reception and ball at the New Metropolitan hall, on Harney street, last evening. Nearly all the lodge members with their wives or lady friends were present.

Supper was served in the dining room during the intermission in the dancing program.

The affair was the event of the season with the lodge and every one present appeared to be thoroughly enjoying themselves.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Crandall & Zoellner's comedians will make their initial bow to an Omaha audience next Sunday afternoon and continue all the week at the Farnam Street theater in the offervescing burletta entitled "A Busy Day," in which Mr. Harry Crandall, famous as the German groceryman in "Peck's Bad Boy," will enact the principal role. It is said to be the brightest and merriest farce comedy creation of the times, and has proved a big hit everywhere.

William G. Andrews, agent of Prof. Herrmann, the magician, arrived in the city yes-terday. Prof. Herrmann comes to the Boyd on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, with one of the greatest exhibitions of magic that the American public has ever seen. On Wednesday (Washington's birthday) a holiday matinee will be given.

The Hanlon Bros', "Fantasma," which opens for four nights and Saturday matinee at Boyd's on Thursday evening next, is an entertainment compounded of mystery, mirth and magnificence. "Fantasma" is a gorgeous spectacle replete with transformations, ex-quisite tableaux, wonderful trick scenery, feats of magic and endless merriment. There are "property" trick donkeys, bears that growl, big red lobsters that crawl, rabbits octopuses, skeletons, ghosts and many other strange and startling features too numerou

Today will be the last opportunity the patrons of the Boyd will have af witnessing Pitou's company in "The Power of the Press." A special mathee will be given this atternoon at 2:30, at which the prices have been fixed at 50 cents for reserved seats in any part of the house. The engagement will close with the evening performance.

Mr. George Kennan will be heard on "Russian Political Exiles," (illustrated) at Boyd theater. Thursday evening, February 28. The achievements of Mr. Kennan, whose Russian experiences have made his name familiar to a great portion of the reading world, furnish a good illustration of the fact that to the educated, cultured man of the nineteenth century there is no such the nineteenth century there is no such thing as an unsurmountable difficulty.
The reserved seat sale at usual prices will open at the box office Wednesday morning.

A "RUN DOWN" and "used-up" feeling is the first warning that your liver isn't doing its work. And, with a torpid liver and the impure blood that fol-lows it, you're an easy prey to all sorts of ailfive tonic, to repel disease and build up the needed flesh and strength, there's nothing to equal it. It rouses every organ into healthful action, purifies and enriches the block, braces up the whole system, and restores health and vigor.

For every disease caused by a disordered liver or impure blood, it is the only guaranteed remedy. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back.
